What is Mayuri?

Being one of the most beautiful birds in the world and a native of the Indian sub-continent it is not strange that the peacock was chosen to be the national bird of the world's largest democracy.

In India the peacock can roam free as it is revered as the symbol of Lord Krishna. This fact is the reason that in forest bordering fields and villages these birds may eat out of your hands. An interesting fact is that the mating season of the peacock coincides with the monsoon season of the sub-continent. During this time both male and female utter loud meowing call. The Indians interpret these calls as "minh-ao" which means "there will be rain". Peacocks tend to call more frequently before imminent thunderstorms.

Our Aim

Our aim is to provide genuine and authentic Indian cuisine to our customers at reasonable rates. We strive for prompt, efficient and courteous service to leave an impressionable mark on our customers.

The Genesis

The quest for quality Indian cuisine augmented with superior customer service prompted the founders of Mayuri to start this venture about a year ago. The posh and scenic Las Colinas has been picked up as the location owing to its growing popularity and convenient location from all the corners of the city. Since its inception Mayuri has won accolades from its loyal customers and the print media alike.

The Team

The founders of Mayuri represent a dynamic battery striving for constant perfection and innovation. Impeccable management has resulted in placing Mayuri restaurant amongst the very best Indian restaurants.
